

Washington and Dover need to hear your voice

December 19, 2012

Dear Editor,

The fiscal cliff looms ever closer as our leaders in Washington attempt to put together an economic package that is sustainable and puts financial America on sound footing once again. This can only be accomplished through the willingness of the two political parties to come to the table with a compromise that both can live with. Maybe it won't be what makes everyone happy, but compromises are often like that – not what you like, but what you can live with for the good of the nation.

In Dover, we are facing an upcoming session that may have very similar battles. I implore you to call or email your local senators and representatives. Tell them how you feel about the issues and then hold them to their response even if it is not the one you wanted. We in the legislature should be working for the good of the state, not as Republicans or Democrats, but as Delawareans.

Sincerely,

Jeff Spiegelman
